

Special Reports

Our series of special reports cover the topics and trends that are driving debate and change in your industry, and provide you with an opportunity to create and distribute highly visible thought-leadership, which is aligned with our hugely respected brands.

Displayed alongside other business influencers from key institutions, these reports provide an effective means of delivering custom content to your target audience, digitally and in print.

The key attribute of these reports is the virtual Q&A forum, allowing participants to answer a number of pre-determined, editorially-driven questions relating to the report's compelling topic, which will be published alongside your relevant branding and photograph.

These reports are distributed in print to our reader base, hosted online and circulated at our leading industry events.
